Iris Connect introduction

You might be interested to know that the school has invested in IRIS Connect, a secure system that enables teachers to record lesson footage and upload it to a digital platform with log in. Once uploaded teachers may choose to selectively share their videos with other teachers within the school; no child's data will leave this secure site.

Significant educational research shows that teacher quality and therefore the quality of their professional development, is the single largest controllable factor affecting educational outcomes for children. Consequently, there are multiple statutory requirements for school staff to engage and promote professional learning. Yet such obligations are hard to achieve given the barriers of time, distance and money. These barriers can be overcome to a degree with digital video and digital collaboration technology.
