

Class Charts – We have been informed that email notifications regarding Class Charts announcements are now operational again. However, their developers are still working on notifications to mobile phones, which appears to be a separate issue. If you use the app on your phone, please continue to check in daily for new announcements.